here don't arount to a little bit of a melody after all. We were but a handful of cowards before the war killed off half of us, yet the great hig North is afraid to have us in the Union! We uns helped make the Constitution and belond scale or helped make our common country great, and when we saw danger of our rights under the Constitution being ignored af-ter we were educated by Abolitionists to believe we had the right to secede, and to save ourselves, did secede, dog gon as enue officers, etc., etc., than it come to; and when we wished to relieve the liberal North of this taxation on our account, dog gon us but they incurred more expense to keep us in than we were worth while we were in. And they didn't want us to work niggers, yet were willing to sell them to us, and to huy all the niggers raised, and pay us in gin-cracks for the same. They drove us out of the Union. They said we had better go out. We took them at their word, for such good Christians as popu-late the North must be honest; and they sent armies here to drive us back. They said we'd a right to secede, and advised us to do so. We took the North at their Then they said we could not se

And they sent soldiers and thieves down among us. While brave men fought us, thieves stole from us the fought us, thieves stole from us the things we bought of them, and now insist on selling them over! We could stund their fighting, but, dog gon 'em, not their stealing. When we sent our wounded home, we found our homes were burned, or our goods stolen. They destroyed or stole all we had, then blamed us for not caring for their wounded! They carried on war against us to drive us back into the Union. And when we were driven the Union. And when we were driven back, they discovered that we were out of the Union!

They wanted us to send members to Congress, and they sent them back home. They say the war was a brilliant success. They say the war was a brilliant success. They say fighting alone can restore the Union, and still, when the fighting is over with, say war divided the Union. We have been subjugated—repudiated—dispossessed—disfrahelized—contrabanded—reconstructed and desolated.

We have quit fighting, yet are warred upon. We want peace, yet are promised war. We want to be in the Union, yet are told we shall not come in. They call us infidels, yet forget Christianity themselves. themselves.

If we are now without money, influence, power or prestige, why is the North afraid of us? If we are expected to be good citizens why do not the radicals of the North set the example? If we are not in the Union, where are we? If this is our reward for disbuading our serviced ranks, what was the use of dishanding? Why not keep on fighting? If we are conquered, why not accept us as such? If we are not conquered, why not go on with the war, renew the murderous crusade for cotton, mules, niggers, jewelry and furniture? The men who fought us like brave men now say that fair play shall be the order of the day. The cow-ards, thieves and plunderers who robbed and desolated and descented us, now are anxions for another war upon us, that the balance of what we have may be stolen from us, and their pockets still further filled, and we are blamed for not laughing at our own funerals. We are naked to sing melodies while sitting on bayonets! We are asked to dance while bayonets! We are asked to dance while the slow match is burning still brightly in our cellars. We are asked to sit still and be insulted by the men who stole from us—who insulted our women—who stole while others fought. We are asked to be good citizens, when we are treated like had citizens. We are asked to be-lieve others who will not believe us, even lieve others who will not believe us, even in tears. We are asked to grow flowers in the face of wintry blasts yet piping from the North and to deck our grave

THE REDEMPTORISTS.

A New Order of Catholic Priests in St. Louis.

By permission of Archbishop Kenrick on Walnut street, where they propose to labor in their peculiar vocation until they shall be enabled to erect a church and mission house of their own. Rev. Lewis Dodd, Rev. E. Smulders and Rev. Terreal Gironda are the priests assigned to the work, and they are said to be well qualified, speaking the English, French, Spanish, Italian, Dutch and Flemish languages. A mission will be held at the cathedral in a few days, and there will be preaching in French and English. The order of Redemptorists was form-

The order of Redemptorists was formed in 1732 by Alphonso Laguiri, of Napies, Italy, who was born September 29, 1696, and died in 1787.

One of Laguiri's disciples. Father Haffbour, established a branch of the Redemptorists in Germany in 1777, and since then it has spread throughout Catholic Europe, and has become established in remote portions of the globe.

In 1833 the order was established in

In 1833 the order was established in this country by Father Alexander Cvitzcoviez, a Hungarian, the first missions being given in the diocese of Cincinnati, and the first regular house being estab-lished at Baltimore. At the present time this order, or, more properly speaking, congregation, has established houses at Baltimore, New York, Philadelphia, New Orleans, Pittsburg, Rochester, Buffalo, Annapolis and Detroit. The novitiate of the order, where young neophites are prepared for the ministry, is located at Annapolis, where there are about forty making the preparatory studies at the present time The branch located here has already secured ground at a cost of $27,000 on the east side of Grand avenue, about two bundred yards south of the St. Charles road, on which the buildings necessary for their accommodation, including a church, will be erected with all convenient dispatch. As these priests devote themselves in a special manner to the peculiar duties which we have already referred to, we might state for the information of Catholic readers that they do not executely perform parachial duties. not generally perform parochial duties, nor do they teach schools or colleges, except such as they need for the training and cultivation of subjects for their own congregations. - Missouri Democrat.
